WALTER BUTLER, Earl of ORMOND and OSSORY, and Viscount Thurles, whose father, John, succeeded to the title, and was acknowledged as such in 1792. His Lordship was born 1770, and succeeded his father, Jan. 1796.

Sir Walter Butler, of Kilcassh, in 1614, became the 11th Earl of Ormond, &c. He had to wife, Helena, daughter of the second Viscount Mountgarret, by whom he had three sons and nine daughters. Thomas, Lord Thurles, the eldest son, was unfortunately drowned in his passage from England, in 1619, leaving issue by Elizabeth, daughter of Sir John Pointz, of Acton in Gloucestershire, Bart. three sons and four daughters; James, the eldest, was created Marquis of Ormond in 1642, and to the English titles of Baron Butler, of Llanthony, and Earl of Brecknock, in 1660, and in 1661 to that of Duke of Ormond in Ireland, and to the same title and dignity in England in 1677, and died in 1686, having filled the most honourable places under Government. He had issue eight sons and two daughters; Richard, the fifth son, was created Earl of Arran, Viscount of Tullogh, and Baron Butler, of Cloughgrenan, whose titles became extinct, 1685, and his only surviving child was the grandmother of the present Marquis Cornwallis. John, the seventh son of the Duke, was created Earl of Gowran; but he died without issue in 1677, when the title became extinct. The eldest daughter married the second Earl of Chesterfield; and the second daughter married the first Duke of Devonshire, grandfather of the present Duke of Devonshire. Thomas, Earl of Ossory, the eldest surviving son of the Duke, rendered himself very conspicuous in the navy, army, and cabinet. He was summoned in the life-time of his father, by writ, to the English Parliament, by the title of Lord Butler, of More-park, but died before his father in 1630, leaving issue two sons and three daughters, viz. James, who became second Duke of Ormond; and after a variety of events, both in favour and opposition to the ruling powers, under whom he lived, at last was attainted by parliament, and retired to France in 1718, where he died in 1746. His estate having been seized by the crown, his brother, the Earl of Arran, was enabled by an act of parliament, to purchase them, which he accordingly did: He left no male issue, and his daughter left no issue. Elizabeth, the eldest daughter of Thomas, Earl of Ossory, married the Earl of Derby, but her issue deceased in 1732, in the person of Lady Henrietta Ashburnham, only surviving issue of William, Earl of Derby.—Emelia married the Earl of Grantham, by whom she had two sons and three daughters; Henrietta, married June 27, 1732, William, Earl Cowper, who prefixed the surname of Clavering to that of Cowper, and was grand father of the present Earl, by this lady, to whom the title of Ossory is supposed to belong.—Charles, the youngest son, was created Baron of Cloughgrenan, Viscount Tullogh, and Earl of Arran, in 1693; and a Baron of England, by the title of Lord Butler, of Weston. His Lordship bore several stations in the army; and in 1712, was Master of the Ordnance, which he resigned on the death of Queen Anne; and in 1715, was elected Chancellor of Oxford, and Lord High Steward of Westminster. His Lordship died in 1758, aged 88, without issue, when his titles became extinct; but his great estates devolved to John Butler of Kilcash, Esq. who dying June 24, 1766, without issue, they descended to the present family, who descended from Thomas, Lord Thurles, eldest son of Walter, the 11th Earl of Ormond, the common ancestor of the Duke of Ormond, and the Earl of Arran, as before shewn.

Richard, the third son of Walter, Earl of Ormond, married Frances, daughter of Mervin, Earl of Castlehaven, and dying in 1701, had issue, three sons and four daughters. Walter, the eldest son, married Mary, daughter of the second Earl of Fingal, and dying before his father, left three sons and four daughters;

The peerage being limited to the heirs of Lady Waterpark, by the Right Honourable Sir Henry Cavendish, it will be necessary to add some particulars respecting Sir Henry's family. It descends from a collateral branch of the House of Cavendish, from whom the Dukes of Devonshire have proceeded, and was settled at Doveridge, Derbyshire, about the conclusion of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, from whom descended Henry Cavendish, born April 15, 1707, who married 1730, Anne, one of the daughters and coheirs of Henry Pyne, of Waterpark, in the county of Cork, by Anne, sister to Richard Edgcombe, grandfather of the present Earl of Mount Edgcombe; which Henry Cavendish was, May 7, 1755, created a Baronet, and died Dec. 31, 1776, leaving issue by his first wife, Miss Pyne, two sons and five daughters, one of whom died Oct. 1794; and by his second wife, Lady Meade, one son. RALPH PAYNE, Baron LAVINGTON, of Lavington, and Knight of the Bath, was created to the above Barony, Oct. 1, 1795. His Lordship married Francoise Lambertine, Baroness de Kölbel, of a noble Saxon family, daughter of Frederic Maximilian, Baron de Kölbel, a General in the Imperial service.

This branch of the family of Payne was early settled in Devonshire; and during the civil troubles of the last century, was distinguished for its steady attachment to the royal cause. But when this grew desperate, Ralph, great grandfather to the present Lord, (who had early joined the royal standard, and was present at the battle of Worcester) found it necessary, after the loss of that day, to quit this country; and with others emigrated to the West Indies; where he settled on a considerable estate in the island of St. Christopher's, which, at his death, he left equally divided between his three sons, Abraham, Charles, and Nathaniel. Charles, the second son, was created a Baronet, whose title has descended to the present Baronet, Sir Gillies Payne, of Tempsford Hall, in Bedfordshire; and Nathaniel died, leaving an only daughter, who married William Woodley, Esq. late Governor of the Leeward Islands. Abraham, the eldest son, married Anne Willett, eldest daughter of Ralph Willett, Esq. of St. Christopher's, (and sister to Henry Willett, father of the late Ralph Willett, of Merley, in Dorsetshire) by whom he had several sons and daughters. Ralph, the eldest son, married, first, Alice Carlisle, daughter and heiress of Francis Carlisle, Esq. of Antigua, by whom he had issue, Ralph, the present Peer.—Elizabeth, and John, who are both dead. He married, 2dly, Margaret Galwey, of St. Christopher's, by whom he had Anne, and George, both dead.—Stephen, (who has taken the name of Galwey) at present of Tofts, in Norfolk.—John, a Captain in the royal navy, who was appointed Commodore and Commander in Chief of the squadron, which was sent to conduct Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales to England.—William, Lieut. Col. of the first, or Royal Regiment of Dragoons.—Martha, and Lucretia. Ralph, the present Peer, served in the several parliaments, which were elected in 1768, 1774, and 1780, for the boroughs of Shaftesbury, Camelford, and Plympton. In Feb 1771, he was created a Knight of the Bath; and in the month of May following, was appointed by his Majesty, to be Captain General, and Governor

THE ORDER OF THE GARTER.

This most noble Order was instituted by EDWARD III.
January 19, 1344.

THE habit and ensigns of the Order are, surcoat, garter, mantle, hood, George, collar, cap, and feathers; the four first were assigned by Edward III. at the foundation; the others by Henry VIII. The motto on the garter, Honi soit qui Mal y pense. The garter is of blue velvet bordered with gold. The George is pendant to a sky-coloured ribbon, encircled with the garter, as in the plate. The collar, which weighs 30 ounces troy, is of gold, and contains twenty-six garters enamelled, and as many knots (alluding to the sovereign and his companions) all joined; to which is pendant the figure of St. George on horseback, in armour, encountering a dragon with a tilting spear; which medal is of gold, and may be enriched with jewels, at the pleasure of the possessor, as in the plate. Charles II. ordained, that the Knights should always in public wear, embroidered on their coats or cloaks, the cross of their order encompassed with the garter, and a silver star of eight points, as in the plate.

At a Chapter held June 3, 1786, a new statute was ordained, that in future the order shall consist of the sovereign and 25 knights, exclusive of the sons of his majesty or his successors, who have been or shall be elected knights of the same most noble order.

The KNIGHTS of the most noble Order of the GARTER at this Time are,

On public days, each knight wears a collar composed of nine imperial crowns of gold, and of eight roses and thistles issuing from a gold sceptre, enamelled in their proper colours, linked together with seventeen gold knots, enamelled white; to the center knot is pendant the badge of the order, as in the plate.
